

Notice of Vacancy
on Madera County Interagency Children and Youth Services Council

The Madera County Interagency Children and Youth Services Council is seeking applications for a Community Liaison representative to fill the vacancy on the Council.

- The Community Liaison may represent one or more community-based organizations with ties to the ethnic communities served in the area.
- A Community Liaison should have an awareness of all the resources that are available within the larger community or throughout the county.
- The Community Liaison's knowledge will benefit children and youth with strong emphasis on community networking and building alliances within established community resources and programs.
- The Community Liaison should also have global awareness of issues that are relevant to Madera County target population and citizenry.

The Madera County Interagency Children and Youth Services Council was established by the Madera County Board of Supervisors pursuant to the authorization of California Welfare and Institutions Code Section 18986.10.

Mission: The Madera County Interagency Children and Youth Services Council articulates goals, advocates direction, and focuses resources on behalf of the community to improve opportunities for success in the lives of young people.

Goal: It is the intent of the Madera County Interagency Children and Youth Services Council to encourage the development of a comprehensive and collaborative delivery system of services to children and youth.

Meetings: The Council holds regular quarterly meetings and special meetings, when needed.

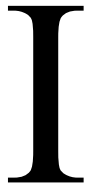

To be considered, a candidate must submit an Application for Community Liaison Representative.

The deadline for submission of application is 4:00 p.m. on Thursday, September 29, 2022.

The Interagency Executive Committee will review the application. Applicants will be informed in writing of the status of his/her application.
